H.R. 9208

Comments on Pending Legislation

Office of General Counsel

The effect of this bill is to increase the amount of so-called "Eisenhower insurance" for which an employee is eligible to $10,000 regardless of his salary. It does not limit the insurance available to employees whose salaries may be greater than $10,000. It in no way increases or limits the category of employees now eligible for this insurance. As liberalizing employee benefits, the bill seems desirable; and there seems no necessity for Agency action at this time.
